IGNITE WITHIN WHO YOU WERE MEANT TO BE

DAY 32: THE POWER TO OPEN THE TRUTH

While I was still His enemy and I hated Him, He still loved me enough to save me.” Josiah is overwhelmed with this truth.

“You need to understand the truth.”

“Truth? What do you mean? Truth?”

“Ok, first of all, breath. You’re safe.”

Josiah takes a few deep breaths, turns off his flashlight, and leans against a large tree stump.

“Trevor, I don’t understand. If you’re dead, and I’m not, how is this possible?”

“I know this is confusing for you, but this is the forest of truth, where the truth will set you free. You just need to understand the truth, and I am the best person to clarify it for you. Do you trust me?”

“You know I have always trusted you. But what truth do I need to understand? Will this help me find Nora? You know how angry she is with what happened between you and Bobbie.”

“Please don’t blame Bobbie. He has been through enough. You need to show both Bobbie and Nora forgiveness and understanding.”

–Treasure Kingdom.

Are you holding onto past hurts and blaming those who have hurt you over and over again? When you choose to relive those hurt, you only give them power to continue to hurt you. When you learn to let go and forgive others, only then can you see that everyone is hurting in some way. We have talked about this in previous days on the importance of forgiveness in both giving forgiveness and receiving it. When you choose to hold onto that hurt you are slowly punishing yourself, the person who hurt you may not even know they have.

When you are unclear of why something happened the way it happened, you need to research the motives behind that hurt. What is going on in their lives? Is there a way you can help them? Or a way to pray for them?

When you open your heart to seeing others as people and not objects, your perspective of them changes, you begin to sympathize with them and learn to forgive and grow together. I am not saying become best friends with them, but understand that they struggle too. When you begin to understand their pain, you know how to better interact with them.

My prayer for you today is that God will open your eyes so you can see through His eyes and love with His heart. Everyone has a purpose and value. When you can see others and understand their doubts, you can better know how to encourage them to move forward in their life journey. When you think about what you are passionate about, what comes to mind?

What holds you back from taking that next step forward?

When you focus your mind on God's truth, your life path will become clear.
